

this would be a good use of bandwidth and would allow the band to be better policed over by the amateur community